```
{theNumber:$,theResult:$}
<%=a0%> = active;
                          <%=a0%> =
                                      addOne:
    0: Activation out
                                0: {Number -> Number} out
                                                                   0: {theNumber: Number in, theResult: Number out}
                                                                   0: {theNumber: Number out, theResult: Number in} 0: Activation in
                                                        {theNumber:$theResult:$}
                                                   1: theNumber2: theResult
                          <%=a0%>=theInterface.theNumber;
                                                                      theInterface.theResult=<%=a0%>;
```