```
{theNumber:$theResult:$}
                                                                2: theResult{theNumber: Number out, theResult: Number in}
                                           1: theNumber
                                                                                               0: {theNumber: Number in, theResult: Number out}
<%=a0%>=theInterface.theNumber;
                                            theInterface.theResult=<%=a0%>;
                                                                                             {theNumber:$theResult:$}
                                                                                                                            <%=a0%> = active;
                                                                                                                   0: Activation out
                                                                                                                   0: Activation out 0: Activation out
                                                                                                                   0: Activation in
                                                                                                              $=$
                                                                                                                              <%=a0%> = addition;
                                                                                                                                     0: {{a: Number, b: Number} -> Number} out
                                                                                                                        0: Activation in
                                                                                                                apply$to$andget$

l: {{a: Number, b: Number} -> Number} in {a:$b:$}
                                                                                                                                                                 <%=a0%> = return1;
                                                                                                                                                   0: {Void -> Number} out
                                                                                                                                                            0: Activation in apply$to$andget$ -> Number} in
```