```
{theNumber:$theResult:$}
                                                                                              if(<%=a0%> === active && <%=a1%>!==null && <%=a1%>!==undefined) {<%=a3%> = <%=a1%>(<%=a2%>);}
                                     1: theNumber
                                                       2: theResult <sup>0</sup>
                                                                                                 {theResult:$theNumber:$}
                                                                                                                                 <%=a0%> = active;
<%=a0%>=theInterface.theNumber;
                                      theInterface.theResult=<%=a0%>;
                                                                            <%=a0%> = 1;
                                                                                                                                                             <%=a0%> = addition;
                                                                                                        {0:$1:$}
```