```
if(<$=a0$> === active && <$=a1$>!==null && <$=a1$>!==undefined) {<$=a3$> = <$=a1$>(<$=a2$>);}
                                                   {0:$1:$}
                                                                                       {sum:$diff:$}
                                                                                                       <%=a0%> = active;
                                                                                                                              <%=a0%> = cool;
                                                                                                 2: diff
                                                                                        1: sum
                                                                           theInterface.theResult=<%=a0%>;
<%=a0%>=theInterface.theNumber;
                                      <%=a0%>=theInterface.theOther;
                                                                                                                  theInterface.theLast=<%=a0%>;
```