```
{theNumber:$theResult:$}
                                                                         <%=a0%> = boolNot;
                                                                                                      <%=a0%> = active;
                                                                                          0: (objekteOtb@ektject) 0: [object Object]
                                      0: [object Object]
                                      0: [object Object]
                                                                                          0: fobject Object1
                                          {theNumber:$theResult:$}
                                                                             apply$to$andget$
                                                                                                          <%=a0%> = isActive;
                                   1: theNumber
                                                        2: theResult
                                                                                                          0: [dbject Object]
                                                                                                      apply$to$andget$
                                                                                                                                             <\%=a0\%> = 1;
<%=a0%>=theInterface.theNumber;
                                            theInterface.theResult=<%=a0%>;
                                                                                                                                  0: [object Object]
                                                                                                                            2: [ob]ect Object][object Object]
                                                                                                                          get$frompreviousandset$fornext
```