```
{theNumber:$theResult:$}
                                                                                              if(<$=a0$> === active && <$=a1$>!==null && <$=a1$>!==undefined) {<$=a3$> = <$=a1$>(<$=a2$>);}
                                        1: theNumber
                                                           2: theResult [object Object]
                                                                                                                     0: [object Object]
                                                                                        0: [object Object]
<%=a0%>=theInterface.theNumber;
                                         theInterface.theResult=<%=a0%>;
                                                                                      {theNumber:$theResult:$}
                                                                                                                   <%=a0%> = active;
                                                                                                                                            <%=a0%> = addOne;
                                                                                                           0: [object Object]
                                                                                                                  0: [object Object]
                                                                                                       apply$to$andget$
```